

Osteopilus septentrionalis* (Cuban Treefrog).
Distribution.

Dates, locations (all in Puerto Rico), and elevations: 20 January 2007, San Juan Bay, Isla Grande (18.45895, -66.10224), 2 m; 21 January 2007, Crash Boat Beach, Aguadilla (18.45838, -67.16299), 6 m; 5 July 2007, Laguna 1, Dorado (18.40539, -66.28718), 82 m; 23 October 2009, Jardines Metropolitanos, Río Piedras (18.4001, -66.06323), 9 m; and 27 November 2010, Manatee Conservation Center of the Interamerican University, Barrio Cana, Bayamón (18.354836, -66.182139), 90 m. Voucher: image (Dorado). These new records document the expansion of this invasive species in Puerto Rico. Thanks to Héctor Osorio, Anabelle Pabón, Jesús A. Rodríguez, Sonia Seda, and Antonio Mignucci. Accompanied by Celia A. Puerta.

Alberto R. Estrada, Productions eleuth Inc., PMB 256-35 JC de Borbon, Ste. 67, Guaynabo, Puerto Rico, 00969, peleuth@gmail.com.

Citation: Estrada AR. 2010. Osteopilus septentrionalis (Cuban Treefrog). Distribution. Caribbean Herpetology 18:1.

Published online 16 December 2010